BLAME WOES ON U.S. PRICES

British Economic Crisis Laid to Rising Cost of Goods from America.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 7—A British official blamed rising American prices and "the rapidly increasing surplus of U. S. exports over U. S. imports" today for the sudden worsening of Britain's economic crisis.

Britain's plight is linked to a "worldwide dollar famine" caused by America's selling to foreign countries more than twice as much as she buys, the chancellor of the exchequer, Hugh Dalton, told the house of commons.

Dalton was replying to criticisms by conservatives and left-wing Socialists that the labor government "squandered" the $3,750,000,000 U. S. loan and that Prime Minister Attlee's new work-more-and-eat-less program promised "too little, too late."

Million Under Arms

The leftwingers were discontented because the announced reduction in Britain's armed forces under the new plan would leave more than 1,000,000 men under arms by next spring—far more than the reduced number they have been advocating ever since they attacked Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's foreign policy last November.

The conservative opposition blasted the Atlee program on the ground that it was "too little, too late." They made three specific points in their criticism:

1. They said the government was dealing with the crisis too hurriedly, at too late a time.

2. They said the plan was not detailed enough.

3. They said the government had failed to give the country a full statement of the peril it faces.

Several London newspapers predicted the Conservatives would vote against the government tonight on the adjournment motion under which the crisis debate was being held. Such a step would constitute a protest without involving a vote of censure.

Call on Dalton

The Daily Express said dissident Laborites had called on Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, after a post-midnight meeting and added that Dalton "will try to appease these critics" when he speaks late today.

Attlee told Britons yesterday that his program would mean less food, less gasoline, less wood for new houses, less goods in the stores, fewer Hollywood movies, and longer hours of work. He said it entailed "limited" labor controls, "some sacrifice" of personal liberty and Spartan hardship.

Trusty Held After Attack on Girl, 16

By The Associated Press

CHILLICOTHE, O., Aug. 7—An 18-year-old trusty was held for county authorities at the federal reformatory today. Warden L. Clark Schilder said he has recommended charges of criminal assault and breaking and entering be filed against the youth, who was identified as Norman Williams. Schilder said Williams escaped from the reformatory early yesterday, broke into a home and beat Joanne Compton, 16, over the head with a hammer. The girl's screams roused her father, Edward Compton, and two others. The assailant fled through a window, leaving clothes by which he was traced to the reformatory, Schilder said.

69 Deaths Charged To Heat In U. S.; Eight Listed in Ohio

A mounting death toll resulting from the excessive heat in the last four days reached a total of 69 over the nation today as showers and cool breezes in the midwest began to break the high temperatures. Eight of the deaths were reported in Ohio where thermometers still registerd in the 90's with little relief promised within the next twenty-fours.

Five of the Ohio casualties were the result of drowning as people sought relief in lakes and swimming pools. The other three Ohio deaths were the result of lightning.

Sweaty brows weer still prevalent in Marion as the themometer at noon today reached 81 degrees, one point above yesurday noon's 80. The maximum here yesterday, however, lacked three degrees of reaching Tuesday's high of 93 with a reading of 90. One year ago the mercury reached only 83 and dropped to 57 during the night.

The breaking of the torrid temperature in the midwest is not expected to give relief to Ohioans for the next 24 hours except possibly in the north and west portions of the state where the weatherman says not so warm. For the rest of the state predictions read partly cloudy with temperature expected to stay at the present level.

Cooling Breezes, Rain Breaking Heat Wave

By The Associated Press

Thundershowers and cooling breezes cut further into the midwest's worst heat wave of the year today after deaths from the four days of 100-degree temperatures had risen to at least 69.

"The heat wave is definitely broken at Chicago and all points north and west and is being broken eastward," the weather bureau said after a shower at Chicago early today tumbled the mercury from 81 to 72 within a few minutes.

Elsewhere the forecaster said continued high temperatures could be expected today, particularly from southeastern Michigan southward through Indiana, across southern Illinois and throughout the southern plains states.

At Joliet, Ill., about 40 miles south of Chicago, a brief but heavy downpour was accompanied by strong winds which blew down many trees and disabled the city's power service. Some houses and automobiles were damaged by the falling trees.

Fatalities as a result of the heat, including some drownings,

DRIVER INJURED IN AUTO, TRUCK CRASH

Morrow Co. Car Overturned at Marion Street Intersection.

Harold W. Betts, 21, of near Cardington suffered a fracture of his left arm when the car he was driving overturned after colliding with a tractor-trailer driven by Donald T. Grice, 25, of Smith street at the intersection of Church and Main street at 3 a. m. today, police reported. Betts was taken to City hospital where his condition is reported to be "good".

Paul Woodruff of Mt. Gilead, owner of the car, and Miss Ida May Burch of near Mt. Gilead, also in the car were asleep at the time of the accident.

Grice was driving north on South Main street and Betts was traveling east on Church street when the accident happened. Betts told police he didn't have time to stop after he saw the truck entering the intersection. The driver of the truck swerved his machine in an attempt to miss the car but was unable to avoid the collision, police said.

The impact caused the car to overturn, spilling gasoline from the tank. Firemen were called to flush the fuel from the street. The car, badly damaged, was taken to McDaniel garage. Damage also resulted to the front of the truck.

SINCLAIR OFFICE TO MOVE HERE SEPT. 1

Eastern Division Headquarters To Be Opened.

The Sinclair Refining company's products pipe line department office in Columbus will close by Sept. 1 and move its functions to an eastern division office at Marion, and general offices in Independence, Kas. (The eastern division office will be located in The Star Auditorium on North State street where remodeling work is now under way).

W. W. Baker, vice president and general manager of the refining company, said completion of construction in the eastern area and start of new construction in the southwest dictated transfer of the greater portion of the Columbus office to Independence where the crude oil division will be expanded to a large central unit. The Associated Press reported in a dispatch from Columbus.

The remainder of the Columbus office will be consolidated with offices at Bryan, O., and Mechanicsburg, Pa., to form the eastern division office at Marion where routine supervisory work will be handled, Baker said.

The office to be abandoned in Columbus was established in 1944 and has a force of about 50, Baker said.

FOUR DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Light Craft Falls Into Chimney of Oil Refining Plant.

By The Associated Press

EVERETT, Mass., Aug. 7—Thomas Mandell, 46, an official of the Carrier-Mandell Air Conditioning Corp. plunged to a fiery death with two daughters and the pilot of a chartered plane when it shot down into a gas-fume chimney of the Beacon oil plant early today.

Police said the motor of the small craft apparently "conked out" over the big vent and "dropped in like a dead pigeon."

Perishing with Mandell, the son of George S. Mandell former publisher of the old Boston Transcript, were his daughters, Anne, 22, and Harriet, 19, and the pilot, Nelson Pell.

Identification was made by Mrs. Frederick Ayer, Mandell's cousin and the sister of the late General George S. Patton.

The party was returning from Montreal after visting Mrs. Cyrus Craig, another daughter of Mandell.

The battered bodies were found in debris at the bottom of the flu. Portions of the craft—identified by authorities as a Stinson—were stuck in the 25-foot high, 10-foot wide Chimney. The wings were sheered as the ship hit the vent.

Witnesses reported that the crash was followed by a series of blasts, apparently caused by exploding gasoline in the plane. Firemen extinguished the flames quickly.

Company officials said that speedy shutting off of the plant's gas possibly averted a more serious disaster. The craft, flying in a low hanging fog narrowly missed hitting a 200-foot high gasoline-cracking unit in the refinery plant, the scene of a serious fire last winter.

Three bodies were recovered at the bottom of the massive vent. The other was trapped under the plane's engine. Tangled wreckage from the plane ribbed the chimney.

Police said the plane apparently was flying low in the fog in an effort to find an airport. The nearest is about three miles from the scene of the crash in reverse. Other larger ports are located in nearby Boston.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7—William T. Brown, 37-year-old Navy veteran, was wounded critically today during an altercation and shooting involving his West Side landlord, police reported.

Patrolmen Millard Shepard and Otto Meyer said they arrived at the scene of the scuffle in time to wrest the gun used in the shooting from Brown's brother, James, 35, and the landlord, who were struggling for possession of the weapon.

The landlord, who received two broken ribs in the fray, told detectives he had shot in "self-defense" when the two Brownes, allegedly intoxicated, attacked him with a rock and made a grab for his gun.

Erie Freight Train Derailed Near Meadville

MEADVILLE, Aug. 7—A 66-car Buffalo-Chicago freight of the Erie Railroad wrecked three miles north of this northwestern Pennsylvania community today, derailing at least 26 cars and ripping up trackage for 300 feet without injury to five crewmen.

J. D. McFadden, trainmaster at Meadville, said the wreck apparently was caused by a broken journal in an oil tanker, the sixth car in line.

RAIL MEN TO SEEK HIGHER BASIC PAY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7 — The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen plans to seek "immediate" basic wage increases, in addition to working rule changes, from the country's carriers, BRT President A. F. Whitney reported today.

In the BRT's first announcement of plans for a 1947 wage increase, Whitney said he would appoint a committee of five brotherhood members to meet with delegates from four other railroad employe organizations in an attempt to coordinate demands for pay hikes.

Whitney said he was instructed by a meeting of the International Association of General Chairmen of the BRT "to contact other transportation organizations immediately advising of our desire to press demands for an increase in basic daily rates for all men employed in train, yard and other services."

Extent of the wage increase demands have not yet been determined, Whitney said.

DEPOSIT GAINS GIVE TAX LIFT

Local Governments To Benefit from Increase in Bank and Loan Figures.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7 — A $2,000,000 bonus is in store for local governments next year if bank, building and loan association deposits, and stocks continue to grow at the present rate.

C. Emory Glander, Ohio tax commissioner, reported to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today that assessments on the financial institutions increased 6.5 per cent this year over last. By action of the recent legislative session the assessments return to the local governments instead of going into the state treasury.

"Should this rate of increase hold for 1948 over 1947," he wrote, "the total would exceed $15,250,000, which is $2,000,000 more than we anticipated would be available to local governments under the provisions of house bill 182."

Net assessments against deposits and shares in financial institutions and against dealers in intangibles in 1946 totaled $13,043,833. This year the assessments totaled $14,155,492.

Glander forwarded the tax department's compilations for all 88 counties to county auditors to be "considered as guides in making estimates of revenues for 1948."

He also estimated that admissions taxes, another field the state has abandoned to the local governments, increased 22.75 per cent in 1946 over 1945 but predicted no marked change in yield for 1947. The total yield for 1945 was $2,536,059.

Plane Builder Charges on Stand Denial of "Deal" Is Pack of Lies.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — Howard Hughes hurled the lie at Senator Owen Brewster today, and in a turbulent session before a senate committee got the Maine senator to acknowledge visits to a residence maintained here by Pan-American Airways.

Brewster steadfastly maintained that there is no truth in Hughes' charges that Brewster once offered a "deal" to call off the senate investigation of Hughes' $40,000,000 warplane contracts.

Hughes said Brewster, a Republican, proposed to drop the inquiry by the senate war investigating committee if he (Hughes) would agree to a merger of his Trans-World Airlines with Pan-American.

Brewster denied that from the witness chair yesterday. Today, Hughes took the same seat and shouted to the senators:

"Senator Brewster's testimony yesterday is a pack of lies and I can tear it apart if I am allowed to cross examine him."

Brewster went back to the chair to answer a series of written questions Hughes gave to Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the senate sub-committee.

In his replies, Brewster:

1. Acknowledged that he had eaten at least "three breakfasts in the last few months" at a special residence maintained here by Pan-American airways as a guest center for officials and employes.

But the Maine senator insisted this could not be termed the "Pan American palace" and instead waved photographs of what Brewster called "TWA's palatial" home and swimming pool.

2. Agreed that Sam Pryor, a vice president of Pan-American and former Connecticut Republican national committeeman, is a close friend of his.

3. Said it was true that he had spent two Thanksgiving vacations of about one week each at a home Pryor has at Hobe Sound, Fla. Brewster said Pryor was not there and he (Brewster) had purchased his own food and borne all expense.

4. Acknowledged that he once accepted free transportation in Pan American's special private airliner from Washington to Raleigh, N. C. He said he went to Raleigh to confer with the late Senator Bailey (D-NC) at Bailey's request about aviation legislation.

Brewster also repeatedly hit at Hughes' story of a "proposition" for a merger.

"The suggestion that I hold a whip over Mr. Hughes is ridiculous," he declared.

Hearing in Uproar

The hearing was thrown into an uproar soon after the committee convened.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich), presiding at the hearing under control of a subcommittee, demanded first of Hughes and then of Brewster if they had any written questions ready for each other.

Hughes, having some difficulty understanding Ferguson, asked his attorney, Tom Slack, what had been said.

Then Hughes asked to make a statement to "clarify my position."

Ferguson cut him, saying that under rules of the subcommittee questions must be submitted in advance and in writing.

Hughes flushed. He pushed [illegible] an envelope [illegible] and [illegible] allowed [illegible] appointment [illegible] yesterday, [illegible] Ferguson [illegible] matter re[illegible]," the [illegible]

Bevin Speaks on Socialization of Ruhr at Inopportune Time

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press
Foreign Affairs Analyst

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is not one to compromise his convictions, as witness his stand for the Socialist government's policy of nationalizing coal mines and mines of Germany's great Ruhr — a policy which the U. S. A. strongly opposes on the grounds that this is a handicap for the German people. It seems to defeat...

DewittMackenzie

The announcement sure-enough quarrel with — the personality of Mr. Bevin. Still, it is pertinent to wonder why we should find it necessary to emphasize such a highly controversial politico-economic issue at this tense moment in Britain's own economic crisis whose solution depends upon American largess.

After all, if even "heaven tempers the wind to the shorn lamb," surely John Bull might refrain from blowing the hot breath of socialistic nationalization down the neck of capitalistic Uncle Sam.

Now of course it would be presumptuous to the N-th degree for an American to raise the point of whether Socialism in an argumentative way. That's for England to decide. However, in view of America's heavy involvement in the economic rescue of her ally, the question does arise whether British socialism is good for the U. S.

Uneasiness in U. S.

To get down to cases, there is a good deal of quiet uneasiness in the United States over the economic aspects of British socialism as they relate to international affairs. The situation worries the practical business man, who recognizes that it is the exercise of private initiative which has made this country the richest and most powerful of all time. He believes rightly or wrongly, that complete nationalization of a country means totalitarianism and the death of private initiative.

We got an indication of this feeling when congress was debating the British loan a year ago. Some congressmen wanted to know why U. S. dollars should be appropriated to save British socialism.

Well, the matter of helping finance the Marshall program for European economic rehabilitation presumably will come up in congress in due course. And the signs are that the legislature will be even more searching in its inquiry than ever before.

Time To Go Slow

England knows all this and for that reason one would think she would go slow on demanding nationalization in a foreign country like Germany. Such insistence on spreading Britain's politico-economic program abroad is unhappily suggestive of an international crusade. It isn't particularly good promotion for aid from America.

It is the economic aspect of socialism, rather than the strictly political, which is worrying American big business. The United States has made it quite clear that she wants to be helpful to her good ally in this crisis, but wants to do so without cutting her own throat. Uncle Sam even smiles tolerantly when former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, that great painter of word pictures, declares in a political speech regarding the government and the crisis:

"I say without hesitation that there will be no recovery from our present misfortunes until the guilty men, whose crazy theories and personal incompetence have brought us down, have been driven from power by the votes of the nation."

Truman Pocket Vetoes Social Security Bill

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — Asserting the social security structure must not be open to "piecemeal attack," President Truman yesterday pocket vetoed a bill to remove full-time news vendors from social security law coverage.

The bill the President said, "would invite other employers to seek exemptions whenever they can allege that the law is inconvenient or difficult for them to comply with."

His memorandum of disapproval added that the legislation "would establish a precedent for special exemption, and the exclusion of one group would lead to efforts to remove social security protection workers in other activities."

CONCRETE PAVEMENT for Low-Annual-Cost

The strength and stamina of portland cement concrete pavement enables it to give long years of all-weather service under the heaviest traffic.

For all but the lighter traffic, concrete pavement usually costs less to build than any other pavement of equal load-carrying capacity.

Although the smooth-riding and all-weather safety of concrete generally attracts the heaviest traffic, records show that annual maintenance costs of concrete pavement are generally lower than for other types of paving.

Low first cost, low maintenance expense and long life mean low annual cost—the reason why concrete is the logical pavement for new principal urban highways and streets.

He little though when leaving home

We did not see him die,
We only know he passed away
And could not say goodbye.

Three Walk Out in Dispute over Rate Increase.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug 7—Resignations of three employer members of the minimum wage board for hotels and restaurants were unrecognized today because Industrial Relations Director William J. Rogers said he did not believe he would accept them.

His statement was supported by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, who said there were no legal provisions for filling vacancies that would be created. Herbert indicated refusal of these members to act would leave the board without employer representation.

"My feeling now is that I'm not going to accept the resignations," Rogers said yesterday.

"I hope they will reconsider their action and serve on the board," Gov. Herbert commented.

The three D M Myers of Cincinnati, George Geyer of Xenia and Frank Wells of Wooster, left a meeting of the board Tuesday night and prepared a letter of resignation, protesting a minimum wage scale proposed at the conference.

None Seriously Hurt In Railroad Crash

By The Associated Press

LITCHFIELD, Ill., Aug 7—The Illinois Central's diesel-powered passenger train, the Green Diamond, smashed through a Burlington railroad freight train near here yesterday, injuring 25 persons but none seriously.

Dr G A Sihler of Litchfield said 13 of the injured still were hospitalized for treatment of cuts and bruises.

Illinois Central officials declined comment on the cause of the wreck but Burlington spokesmen at Chicago said a preliminary investigation indicated the passenger train ran through a signal and was derailed before it cut through the side of the freight train one car behind the locomotive.

Everybody Isn't Happy

THE prevailing happiness about agreements to set aside the Taft-Hartley act so union negotiators will not call strikes against employers may be short-lived.

The joint congressional committee set up under the act to make sure the Truman administration didn't scuttle it for spite is studying the agreements reached in coal and in the Ford empire.

National labor relations board advisers are studying these agreements too, along with a great many other Americans who think it's extremely serious business if private citizens get their heads together to nullify a public law.

The moral fact of this matter is that the Taft-Hartley act was passed to protect the public, not any labor union, not any manufacturer or group of industrialists. In this connection, it must be noted that the law gives third parties the right to sue either employers, unions, or both for recovery of damages because of unlawful acts. An auto dealer who lost his shirt because the Ford union winked at an illegal strike could seek recovery of his losses from the union if the employer had agreed to wink at illegal strikes too.

Lawyers are having old home week dishing out profound advice to their clients on the Taft-Hartley act. Some of the advice is bound to be wrong. Only one side can win in a law suit. There is still some doubt that private citizens can get their heads together to set aside a federal statute for their private convenience.

The Plan That Isn't a Plan

WITH Britain's crisis becoming more acute, great reliance is being placed on the so-called Marshall plan. But it isn't a plan and General Marshall never said it was. More careful users of language call it an approach. It is nothing more than an idea calling for friendly American aid "in the drafting of a European program and of later support of such a program so far as it may be practical for us to do so."

What the Marshall approach amounts to is that our secretary of state has said to the western European powers, "Get together and tell me how much you think you need for recovery and I'll inquire around Washington and see how much we can spare." We have made no promises, signed no blank checks.

Now it is evident Britain can't stall off financial collapse while waiting for the Marshall idea to jell into a plan. Credits intended to last until 1950 will be exhausted before the end of this year. Dollars made available to Britain are buying less, just as domestic dollars are buying less

The British will have to make a drastic shake-up in their economy before they can end their reliance on American dollars. They will have to postpone their visions of a socialist Utopia. Astronomical sums of American dollars have done nothing more than tide them over for a period of months The magic of American dollars and mystic incantations containing the words "Marshall plan" solve nothing.

Bipartisan Means Both Parties

IT shouldn't be necessary to point out—but it is—that in a bipartisan foreign policy, which is what this country's supposed to have, both parties have similar rights. Democrats can talk about it, and so can Republicans.

Apologists for the Truman administration have the notion that a bipartisan foreign policy means the administration makes all the decisions and the opposition backs them, right or wrong.

They go even further, in fact, and claim the opposition can't even open its mouth without betraying the principle of bipartisanship. This, of course, is malicious nonsense. It seeks to gag the public.

There must be no gag on discussion of foreign policy in congress, in the press and among the people. The only obligation imposed by a bipartisan policy is that of keeping it out of party politics as an issue—and the extent of bipartisanship as far as Democrats are concerned was revealed in 1944 when Franklin D. Roosevelt claimed he and he alone possessed the wisdom to deal with Winston Churchill, Josef Stalin and the spokesmen for other foreign governments.

It will be a miracle if bipartisanship, or what's left of it after that 1944 performance, survives the next national election. It probably shouldn't. The pretense that there is no difference of opinion in the United States over foreign policy is growing too absurd to keep up much longer. There is a difference of opinion within the Truman administration itself. Republicans are likewise divided. Bipartisanship, insofar as there has been any, hasn't done a whit to make Americans more comfortable about the results of years of improvising bigger and better ways to give away their money.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Discouraging Report on Conditions Abroad.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—A rather important government official has returned from abroad, much discouraged over both the economic and political outlook. His private conversational report to other administration authorities is being received with some awe and it will be a base guide to development of administration policies on defense, relief and perhaps diplomacy.

This official cannot see how Germany can recover with one third of the country literally taken away (Russian's uncooperative zone,) yet recover is essential for a healthy Europe.

But more important was his conclusion that compromise with the Russians is impossible, and that a long and costly war is inevitable.

No evidence is discernible that these views will result in any critical change in politics which are developing, but the current trends may be strengthened and reinforced by bulwarks. Secretary of State Marshall has abandoned hope of a usual summer vacation. The difficulties of developing detailed arrangements for his plan will take time. His is not really a plan, but merely an announced purpose in a speech to continue aid to Europe for a few years more, if Europe will help itself, and give us ground for hope that our aid will be worthwhile. Actually the administration is groping toward implementation of the Marshall thought, being unanimously displeased at the prospect of endless continuation of the present loose money-giving.

The Truman cabinet recently spent a long time on an idea of giving goods instead of money hereafter. Secretary of Agriculture Anderson talked considerably about this, following the Columbus speech of Senator Taft containing some vague suggestions along the same line. The idea seems to be that the United States should set up controls of exports, establish a purchasing board, procure the aid goods and then ship it. All seemed to agree more or less about the necessity of a coordinating or purchasing board which would not run prices up here too high.

Indeed there has been talk, deep within the administration, of establishing a two-price arrangement, one for foreign purchases and a second price for the United States, thus to prevent foreign demand from running the American price too high and supply too low

Of course, this is merely the latest trend of inner administration talk about implementing the Marshall policy. The Republicans have study committees at work No one seems in much hurry because current appropriations are more than enough to take care of any natural emergency until January. Marshall is developing some ideas for the conference of American foreign ministers at the gambling casino outside Rio, beginning Aug. 15. The European relief and refugee problems will be thoroughly analyzed there on a hemisphere basis.

Our Only Course

Otherwise the United States is going ahead unilaterally to keep the Russian obstructionist tactics in the United Nations from blocking all world progress. The Russians have shown they will filibuster and delay anything important, so we are moving on every issue (not only Greece and Turkey but also now Indonesia) to establish an American policy. For instance, we offered our services immediately for mediation in the Indonesian affair. Russia can stop the United Nations from doing anything by veto, but she cannot prevent the United States from doing the same thing, whether it be a Greek border mission study or an offer of mediation in disputes, presented and vetoed in UN.

You might suspect the Russians would withdraw from UN so great is their veloing and filibustering displeasure with its projects. That would be a normal reaction, but not Russian. Few officials here have given a serious thought to the possibility of Russian withdrawal. They know Russia is in the UN to keep it from doing anything and will remain there for that purpose.

Similarly if the Russians want war and intend to bring one on, there is not much we can do except to make as much peace as we can around the world, strengthen our ties and prepare to defend ourselves. Impoverished Russia is in no economic or military position to make war, but Hitler worked one up in a bankrupt nation, and you never can tell what nonconformists will do.

Installment Selling

By RAYMOND MOLEY

OUR OLD friend, the installment plan, will be home from the wars on Nov. 1. Limitations on installment selling were imposed in August, 1942, as an anti-inflation measure. Since the end of the war, the President and his advisers have favored the continuation of the restriction, despite demands from business that freedom again prevail. But sentiment in congress and elsewhere has disagreed with the President.

Speculation about what will happen vary. Many factors will be present when the restriction is lifted which will prevent any wild credit-buying spree. In some lines the things to buy will simply not be available. This will be the case with automobiles. Other lines, which felt the pinch of a recession earlier this year, will benefit by "easy terms." This will apply to furs and many electrical appliances.

Convincing Argument.

It was argued with some force in congress that if, as the President says, we are in a $225,000,000,000 production year, what harm can come from a paltry two- or three-billion volume of installment sales? Moreover, it was pointed out that most people who are determined to buy beyond their cash position can, in any event, get loans in some other way.

Business may need a slight stimulant toward the end of the year. We are undoubtedly at the peak of our employment. But by October, 2,000,000 workers will be released from agriculture, and the loss in seasonable employment in other lines will be considerable. Additional purchasing power may not be a bad way to meet this loss in employment.

The danger of over-expansion of installment buying will be partially removed by the actual presence of savings, which were never larger than they are now.

Starting Point.

Installment selling, which became such a tremendous economic factor 20 years ago, derived to a great extent from earlier experiments in the sewing-machine business. The principle behind these early beginnings was that a sewing machine, bought on the installment plan, would pay for itself. Purchasers increased their production and income by mechanized sewing. This principle operated measurably later on in other lines, especially where automobiles and other equipment were used in the purchaser's business.

When the big boom was on in the 'twenties, almost all European observers and some American economists predicted dire results from installment selling. They said that when the inevitable slow-down took place, it would be enormously accelerated by defaults in the five to seven billion in installment credit. But these predictions were not borne out. The American people at the onset of the depression stopped buying on credit. Through the years up to the war, increases in installment sales always seemed to predict better business, and decreases foreboded a decline. The installment plan may again be not only a valuable means of forecasting, but a stabilizing factor in the business cycle.

The Egg and You

For the first time since the war started, the government's purchase program to support egg prices will cost American tax money this year. The reason is that the British are sharply reducing purchases, leaving us with millions of dozens of surplus eggs. Since the start of the program, the British have taken nearly all the surplus at cost, plus packing and shipping.

This situation will be especially irksome to the city-dweller whose tax dollar is being spent to keep eggs off the market, forcing him to pay more for them at the grocery.

This season the British have purchased 277,000,000 dozen eggs and the Agriculture Department is hoping it can sell them an additional 15,000,000 dozen in frozen form. But even the most optimistic officials figure the government will be stuck with 75,000,000 dozen in dried-egg form, representing about $30,000,000 for purchasing, processing and storing.

Cause of Colon Ulcers Still Eludes Research

By The United Press

PHILADELPHIA—Despite exhaustive research, the cause of ulcers of the colon still baffles the medical profession.

Dr. Kendall A. Elsom, of the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, told the Philadelphia county Medical Society that knowledge of the cause of the ailment has not been advanced for the past 10 years.

He said it is now generally believed that some type of infection primarily is responsible, though no bacteria or infectious agency to which it could be attributed has been isolated so far.

THE IRONY OF IT ALL

What Howard Hughes Is Like

By JACK O'BRIAN

Associated Press Broadway Reporter.

NEW YORK — What's Howard Hughes like?

He's skinny and tall, just short of handsome, dour and darksome to folks who don't know him, amiable and even talkative to those who do.

He sometimes is seen with ten different girls in a week and they need not all be movie stars. The only apparent Hughes prerequisite for feminine companionship is beauty and shapeliness. He has been known on occasion to be attentive to young ladies who are a little lacking in sophisticated chatter, but his "dates" mostly are the better known models and younger actresses.

He has more than $125,000,000 but dresses as if he hadn't a quarter. His inexpensive suits apparently have an unfortunate haberdashery habit of falling into wrinkles the moment he puts them on. He is about the only patron of El Morocco, The Stork or Twenty-one who is welcome while wearing "sneakers," the tennis-style pedal encasement he prefers for flying.

Hearing Defective

He's a little hard of hearing but his friends say not as much as he occasionally suggests, they insist it's a handy defense against bores to pretend not to hear their inane chit chat. He's generally a night club socialite rather than a private party man and he rarely remains at a private shindig for more than ten minutes.

Because of his hearing, he prefers to talk on a telephone. He's been known to talk constantly from lunch through dinner time. He spends more on his own telephone calls than most executives make in a year.

He doesn't have an office; not even a desk. He walks around his plants and headquarters with stacks of blueprints, meets his assistants on the streets, wanders into a hotel lobby or club, lays out the blueprints or problems and takes it informally but earnestly from there. He is superstitious about releasing details of aviation plans before the fait is accomph.

Sees a Jinx

The fact that press photographers shot the takeoff of his flight in the XF-11 which almost cost him his life last year has strengthened that phobia. While recuperating in the hospital from the crash, he designed a sick bed with 37 buttons that did everything except take the patient's temperature. He still wears the gray flannel pants he had on the around-the-world flight even though they are in a downright peek-a-boo condition by now.

He has a stable of ancient airplanes and wouldn't part even with an old bent rudder. He's on every sucker list but has been "taken" only once: when he made his first movie, his impatience to go at it scientifically moved him to hire every technical man in sight; he had 120 electricians alone.

Howard Hughes has been fond of publicity, but never would permit a photographer to snap him with any of his glamor girl companions, however renowned they might be. He let night club photographers know emphatically that he did not want his picture snapped under any saloon circumstances. When he posed it was alone; in groups, the others always were, if Hughes had his way, business or government associates.

Hughes sat a few seats away from me in the front row at the Joe Louis-Tami Mauriello championship fight last fall in Yankee stadium. His companion was Miss Ava Gardner, former wife of Artie Shaw and Mickey Rooney. Hughes was just recuperating from his crash injuries of a few months previous. He looked wan and shaky and was wearing a moustache to cover some lip scars collected in his recent crash.

HOWARD HUGHES

Homey Touch

There apparently was no reason why he should not have his picture taken with the lovely Miss Gardner, and the photographers were mighty anxious to shoot this attractive twosome as they watched the preliminary tilts.

Hughes, however, while thoroughly willing to be photographed alone, was adamant in his request not to have Miss Gardner in the picture. He stretched uncomfortably on his lanky legs time after time to pose in the aisle so that he could be pictured alone. The twosome would have made a nice little photo, as Miss Gardner was munching a big bag of popcorn which put a nice little down-to-earth touch to the usual glamour-girl shots.

Another time I sat in the lobby of my hotel while Hughes waited patiently for two hours for a young lady to finish primping for a date with him. The girl later expressed her astonishment at his unusual patience. She said she'd been out with lots of other wealthy young men who take the attitude they are bestowing a favor to escort a lady to their favorite barrooms and night clubs.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

A Vegetarian for President

Dr. John Maxwell, 81, will run for the Presidency of the United States, according to the newspapers, on a vegetarian ticket. It seems a pretty good idea. We always had meat-eating presidents . . . and look where we are.

• • •

It could be that what this country needs is a man in the White House who goes right through a vegetable plate.

• • •

Think what it might mean to the morale and spirit of a president of the United States if he never had to blush up a good tenderloin steak or worry about a lamb chop for dinner. It is not entirely probable that Harry Truman would function better as the chief executive in these troubled times if he depended more on sweet potatoes?

• • •

Dr. Maxwell may make a terrific run. This can be said of him over any other candidate in the field: he knows his onions.

• • •

We have been thinking over the matter of campaign slogans for the first man to run for President on a vegetarian platform. We think he could corral the women's vote by a simple "Elect a vegetarian president and get more room in the icebox!"

• • •

"A vote for Maxwell is a vote for fewer dishes to wash!" might also get the housewives

• • •

But the women alone can't win for him and some slogans with appeal to the men folks will be required. How about:

"Throw the Meat Eaters Out! We Want a Man With Beans."

"Look At The Country Today! Could You Do Worse With Tomatoes?"

• • •

Put an ardent foe of meat
In the presidential seat;
Choose a man who hates all steaks
See the difference it makes!

Maxwell is the man for me—
Friends of carrot and of pea!
Vote for one whose platform means
Justice for the lima beans

To the voting places, men!
Down with flesh of cow and hen!
Truman, Taft or Dewey? No!
Give some spinach fan a show!

What did we get from F. D. R.?
Dams, and OPA and war!
What did we get from Truman, Harry?
Meat from some tough dromedary!

Switch to Dr. Maxwell who
Will not promise chops for you;
Garden crops he won't sell short . . .
Lettuce give him our support!

Hail to a candidate who will
Your plate with vegetables fill!
In every pot a cabbage large
And two Swiss Chard in every garage!

P. L. T says Johnny Meyers was engaged in the great job of trying to convert the best night clubs into landing fields.

• • •

MEYERS' MOTTO

When it's Elliott
Spend like helliot!

• • •

Whatever you may say about the Hughes publicity chief, he will go into history as the greatest check picker-upper of the World war. He was Mister This-Is-On-Me-for 1942, 43 and '44.

• • •

Johnny Meyers' account shows $5,083.79 spent entertaining the Eliott Roosevelts and the long list of night clubs, hotels and bars submitted as recording the entertainment scenes convinces us that it can't be true. You can't even check your hat in that many night clubs and hotels for $5,093.

• • •

The committee has been asking Mr. Meyers about his war record. It seems fairly clear He was head man in "Operation Convivial" and saved a lot of people from crash landings when the check appeared.

A Penny's Worth

By TRUMAN TWILL

We've been reading about building goodwill in New York hot spots during the war to establish the four freedoms everywhere on earth, and it makes us think of the time a fellow gave us a penny ice cream cone. It was because he wanted pop to give him the nod for a job that was open, driving a one-horse wagon in what then was the family enterprise—a delivery system for local grocers and butchers.

Our old man asked where we got the cone and thought it was cheap practice bribing a little bitty kid with a penny cone. Parenthetically, a penny ice-cream cone—for readers who were born too late—was about the size of a good hickory walnut and was the come-on for the monster five-cent cone. It will be a long time before a kid can buy anything that important again for a penny.

The old man looked stern in the way he had of looking stern and said something about underestimating the price he put on his own judgment. Elmer Shilling, he said, (that was the bribe-giver's name) should have known better than to think a penny cone handed over to a little bitty kid could make any difference. In his opinion the old man said, Elmer Shilling was still what he always had been—a shiftless, amiable drunk who couldn't be trusted to drive a horse and bring it home alive.

The old man worked himself up into such a stew about Elmer that he collared him and let him know, in a nice way—but firm—that in the future Elmer should estimate his prey more accurately. He said to Elmer that only a fool would go fishing for bullheads with a piece of thread and a bent pin and that if the job was worth having it was worth giving the old man's little bitty kid at least a nickel cone.

We don't know what kind of an impression this made on Elmer, but it made a whale of an impression on the kid, which is why we've been following with unusual interest the technique of buying goodwill by throwing parties in New York hot spots during the war for the kind of people who can be depended on to go all out for a penny's worth of ice cream, figuratively speaking.

The food, drink and fun checks that fellow—not Elmer, the publicity fellow—picked up would have had most of us swallowing hard for a month. But he picked them with the greatest of ease, because it wasn't his money involved in the expense money set aside for building goodwill. And to prove that you can't depend on stories like this having a happy ending, the goodwill was built, right up to where it paid off in millions.

We wonder what became of Elmer Shilling. He had the makings of a big operator, in two-fisted society.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—Jeanie is a girl that success can't spoil. She has made good in the big city. She did it by doing little things well. She still comes back half-a-day each week for old times' sake and makes our house loud with her laughter. I think she has the gladdest heart of anyone I ever knew.

Jeanie is a maid, a husky friendly Negro girl with white teeth, dark eyes and a complexion as soft as the patina on old rosewood. She isn't just an ordinary maid. She's the kind that housewives fight and scheme against each other for. Most any woman would risk losing her dearest friend to lure Jeanie away.

Hal Boyle

She came here years ago from California to be again with the sister who raised her after their mother died.

She first started coming to our house when the depression was lifting. She got fifty cents an hour then and worked for half a dozen people.

When she left, the place was spick-and-span in a new way. She has been coming ever since. Each time before leaving she accepts a good nip of something to keep her warm on the subway ride up to Harlem.

Baseball Is Hobby

Jeanie gets so much fun out of her work it makes some people envious. Her hobby is baseball. I don't think she has ever gone to a game, but she listens to them on the radio and reads all the newspaper accounts.

During the war she got a maid's job on the staff of a ritzy midtown apartment hotel, and ever since she's been in the big money. The rich people there have really taken care of her. A girl like Jeanie doesn't come their way often.

The $45 a week salary is the smaller part of her earnings. Her tips are liberal and the wealthy women give her discarded dresses more expensive than she could buy herself.

Still Comes Back

But in the evenings and on her day off Jeanie still comes back—tireless and merry—to clean for friends who helped her in leaner days. One old lady in financial straits for whom Jeanie still labors an entire evening for one dollar in remembrance of past kindnesses said:

"I'll bet you've got a few hundred dollars hidden behind a picture somewhere."

Jeannie laughed and laughed—because she's probably got thousands. All these years she's been saving for the time when she could have a home of her own to stay in and keep clean. She's cleaned so many homes for other people.

She laughs all the time now. For soon her boy friend is getting out of the Navy.

"I'm afraid Jeanie won't be back to see us much after that," worries Frances.

Lamb Pool's Dates Set At Ashley Stock Yards

The first lamb pool of the 1947-48 season will be held at the Ashley stock yards Thursday, Aug. 21, by the Delaware-Morrow-Marion County Sheep Improvement association Jesse Foust of Cardington announced. Fifteen pools are planned at present to run through April 22, 1948.

This sheep improvement program will be starting its third year and has shown a consistent growth in numbers of sheep sold on grade and the quality of lambs offered for market.

Printed cards giving the complete schedule of pool dates, officers and directors of the improvement program and a statement of the purpose and operation of the sheep improvement program are available at the agricultural extension office in each county.

Farmers desiring to have farm inspection of their lambs before selling on grade can do so by calling Henry Brandes of Ashley at the county extension office in their county and asking for their service.

Miss Cochran And Marvin Hall Wed At West Jackson

THE custom of closed church was observed when Miss Della Jean Cochran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Cochran of near LaRue, Sunday became the bride of Marvin Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hall of near Richwood. The double ring ceremony was read at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon in the Union Baptist church at West Jackson by Rev. Marvin Lewis before the altar decorated with palms, bouquets of white gladioli and two seven branch candelabra.

A half-hour program of nuptial music preceded the ceremony with Mrs. Donald Dinius of Logansport, Ind., aunt of the bride, as pianist, and Harley Kramp of Columbus as soloist. Mrs. Dinius played "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice," "Oh Promise Me," "At Dawning," "Indian Love Call," "Libestraum," and the traditional wedding marches. Mr. Kramp sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her gown of ivory slipper satin was accented with piping and fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and a full gathered skirt which extended into a short train. Her fingertip veil of bridal net, edged in lace, was held with a coronet of braided satin, and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a white prayerbook which held a corsage of white roses showered with satin streamers.

Mrs. Carl Flesher, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Irene Hall, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Robert Smith of Marion. Their gowns of dotted Swiss were fashioned like that of the bride with which they wore matching shoulder length veils. Mrs. Flesher was in aqua and the bridesmaids in rose. Each carried a colonial bouquet of carnations and roses. Lighting the candles was Miss Helen Hall, sister of the bridegroom, in a gown of blue.

Norman Hall served his brother as best man, and ushers were Charles Sivey, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Curby Cochran, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cochran wore a black dress and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Hall was unable to be present because of illness.

A reception for 95 guests was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, laid with a lace cloth, was centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Other decorations were lighted ivory tapers in crystal candleholders, and bouquets of garden flowers were placed throughout the rooms. Serving were Misses Della Owen, Mildred Morris, and Lucille Morris of Marion, Mrs. Charles Sivey of Delaware, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Carl Flesher.

When the couple left on a wedding trip through the east, Mrs. Hall was wearing an aqua linen dress with white accessories and her bridal corsage.

Mrs. Hall was graduated from LaRue High school and the Marion Business College, and is employed as office manager of the Marion Tire Service. Mr. Hall, a graduate of Richwood High school, is engaged in farming. They will make their home for the present at 285 South High street in Marion.

Guests were from Pontiac, Mich., Plymouth and Logansport, Ind., Columbus, Caledonia, Richwood, LaRue, Nevada, Harpster, Oceola and Marion.

Miss Myers Weds Robert Turney in Chapel of Church

MISS WANDA MYERS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Myers of north of Brush Ridge, chose her father's birthday anniversary as the date for her marriage to Robert Turney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Turney of Harpster. The double ring candlelight ceremony was read Sunday, Aug. 3, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the chapel of the Grand Prairie Baptist church at Brush Ridge by Rev. Lester Kidd, pastor of the Green Camp Baptist church. The custom of open church was observed.

The couple repeated their vows before a background of palms, ferns, large cathedral vases of white and pink gladioli, and lighted candles in five seven-branch candelabra. The pews were marked with large satin bows entwined with pink and white asters.

A half-hour program of piano and organ wedding music was played preceding the ceremony by Mrs. Berkley Huddle, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Edythe Van Meter. A trio, composed of Mrs. Paul Thibaut and Robert Veness of Marion, and Lewis Clark of Findlay, sang "My Hero" by Herbert, and Mrs. Thibaut sang "Because," d'Hardelot, and "Always," Berlin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin. The low oval-cut bodice was trimmed with a capelet of satin and an inset of net illusion to form a high round neckline. The skirt which ended in a long train was gathered to an inverted "V" waistline, and the long sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her fingertip length veil of illusion net was held in place by a Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls, and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible, a gift of her maternal grandmother, on which was an arrangement of orchids showered with streamers.

Miss Vernell Myers attended her sister as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Helen Turney and Miss Janice Myers, sisters of the bride and bridegroom. The maid of honor's gown of pink net was fashioned like that of the bride. Accenting the back was a bustle effect of ruffles cascading from the waist to the floor. She wore a shoulder length veil of aqua net and carried a bouquet of pink and aqua gladioli. The bridesmaids wore pink and aqua taffeta gowns, respectively, with contrasting veils and lace mitts, and carried bouquets of gladioli and maline.

The flower girl, little Miss Dorothy Brooks, cousin of the bride, wore a gown of pink taffeta trimmed with aqua lace and a matching veil and mitts. She carried a basket of pink and white asters. Jerry Rice, nephew of the bride, dressed in a white sailor suit trimmed in light blue, carried the rings on a white satin pillow. Lighting the candles were Misses Shirley and Louise Turney, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore identical gowns of aqua and pink dotted Swiss styled with an off-the-shoulder effect. Ribbons in contrasting colors with a single flower were worn as chokers.

Walter Turney Jr. served his brother as best man, and ushers were Ronald White and William Graham, both of near Harpster.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Myers chose a navy blue crepe dress styled with a draped skirt and accented with embroidered flowers. With this she combined black accessories. Mrs. Turney was attired in a navy crepe dress with an accordion pleated skirt with insets of blue and white polka dots. Her accessories were black. Each wore a white glamelia corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 170 guests. The bride's table, laid with a lace cloth, was centered with a large three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Silver candlesticks held pink and blue tapers and the cake was surrounded by pink rosebuds and ivy. Serving were Mrs. Robert Simmons, Mrs. William Graham, Mrs. Robert Rea and Mrs. Leo Kissner, assisted by Mrs. S. H. Foos, Mrs. Cyril Bryant, Mrs. Kenneth Coon, Miss Mildred Temple, Miss Mary Ann Van Meter, Miss Dorothy Clark and Miss Joan Brents.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and through the East, Mrs. Turney was wearing an aqua print silk dress with black net inset at the neckline, a large black horsehair braid picture hat, black accessories, and an orchid from her bridal bouquet. They will be at home after Aug. 12 in their newly furnished apartment at the home of Mrs. John Bibler north of Brush Ridge.

Mrs. Turney was graduated from Harpster High school in 1945 and is employed at the Ward Stilson Co. in Marion. Mr. Turney, a graduate of Harpster High school in 1944, served a year and a half in the U. S. Navy and is now engaged in farming.

Guests were from Cleveland, Wooster, Bucyrus, Galion, Marion, Morral, Harpster, Wyandot, Richwood, Nevada, LaRue, Upper Sandusky, Columbus, Meeker, Celina and Brush Ridge.

Big Yield of Oats Reported on Farm Tract Near Prospect

William Knachel and R. E. Jones, who operate a farm just west of the Prospect corporation limit, are two Marion county farmers who can talk about the oat crop this year in an optimistic vein.

Generally speaking, the county's oats crop has been conceded to be one of the poorest in years, according to county agricultural officials and farmers. Knachel and Jones, however, have just finished combining four acres that produced a yield of 408 bushels. Tested at the Prospect Farmers' Exchange elevator, the grain went 37 pounds to the bushel straight from the combine, averaging 102 bushels to the acre.

Knachel reported that the oats were of the Clinton hybrid variety, a recently developed type, and were sown in late April. The four-acre field is sandy loam. The grain was so thick that the combine could handle it only in second speed, Knachel said. A previously announced high yield this year in the county was 88 bushels, reported by a farmer near Green Camp.

Herbert To Reappoint Wilberforce Trustees

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 6 — All six present state-appointed-members of the Wilberforce university board appeared today to be sure of reappointment to their posts despite opposition from the African Methodist Episcopal church.

LIGHTER POLIO YEAR IS SEEN

Break Sighted for U. S. After High Records for Four Seasons.

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — After four bad polio years, a break is in sight for 1947, a U. S. public health service official reported today.

At that same time, however, he urged the public to observe the usual precautions during the rest of the infantile paralysis "season" which runs from June through September.

Reporting a total of 1,955 cases this year up to Aug. 2, compared with 5,450 for the same period last year, the official told a reporter:

"It is not really too late for a sharp rise—that is, a fairly limited explosive outbreak—in a particular locality of the country.

"But, from the figures to date this year, the indication is that the high incidence of the past four years for the country as a whole will be broken."

Full year case totals for those four years were:

1946, second worst epidemic year on record—25,237. (In 1916, there were approximately 30,000)

1945—13,619 cases.

1944—19,029.

1943—12,449.

This year, since March 15 (the approximate average date of lowest incidence) there have been 1,344 cases, compared with 4,983 for the same period a year ago.

For the week ended Aug. 2, there were 219 new cases compared with 167 for the preceding week, and 1,284 for the corresponding week last year.

States which have reported the largest number of cases so far this year, together with comparative figures for last year, are:

California, 467 this year, against 411 last year; New York, 147 against 223; Texas, 105—547; Illinois, 97—327; Ohio, 63—155; Michigan, 62-93; Pennsylvania, 59—62; Florida, 55—399; Nebraska, 53—108; and Minnesota, 49—623.

The health service official said the public should continue to observe such precautions as:

1. Avoiding unnecessary contacts with large groups of people—this is a particular precaution for children.

2. Observing habits of personal cleanliness.

3. Avoiding any strenuous exertion and any sudden exposure to cold water.

4. Calling a doctor in case of unexplained illness.

STILL FIGHTING FIRE

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7—Weary fire fighters fought grimly today against the still uncontrolled Big Tujunga canyon brush fire which has killed two men, injured or burned an estimated 75 and scorched 3,500 acres of watershed. The fire is in its third day.

ELLIOTT AND INQUIRY CHAIRMAN SHAKE HANDS. At conclusion of his testimony, Elliott Roosevelt (right) reaches across the witness table to shake hands with Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) HUGHES that those attending the hearing would remain quiet.

"We want to hear this as American citizens," he declared.

The young man said he was Leonard Small of Brooklyn, N. Y., a student at George Washington university here.

Capitol police, moving forward to carry out Ferguson's instructions to clear the room, hesitated. One of them said to Small "You won't speak for any one," and then moved forward — apparently to oust Small first of all.

Ferguson intervened.

"Don't put him out for saying he is an American citizen," he said.

When the hearings convened, Ferguson told Hughes:

"The subcommittee did meet, and I will now ask, are there any questions on your part, Mr. Hughes?"

"Senator Brewster — excuse me, Senator Ferguson," Hughes said, "may I make a brief statement?"

"No," Ferguson shot back. "Do you have any questions in writing which you desire the subcommittee to ask Senator Brewster?"

"I have, yes, one question I will submit to start with," Hughes said. "It would be impossible to submit all my questions in advance, because each one would be predicated on the answer to the one preceding it."

Wants No Conflict

Ferguson said he didn't want to get into a conflict, but "the committee must function" and it wanted to give both parties a fair opportunity to present their cases.

"Do you have any questions?" he repeated.

"Well, senator, Hughes began, "may I refer * * *"

Ferguson cut him off.

"No, we're going to get this settled," he said. "Do you or do you not have any questions in writing?"

Hughes said he would submit some, and he started to ask, "will it be understood I can follow with more questions as we agreed last night * * *."

"There will be no agreement," Ferguson interrupted.

Hughes finally turned over to Ferguson a sheet of what he called "preliminary questions and by no means all."

Ferguson announced there were 20 questions and that the subcommittee had agreed all should be put to Brewster.

Ferguson called for Brewster to take the stand, but before the senator could get there Hughes broke in to say that if the committee was going to "deny me the right of cross examination," he wanted to offer additional questions. He announced yesterday he would have "200 to 500."

Ferguson said that if Hughes had any other questions he should "submit them now."

"All right," Hughes replied. "But I want to say that this can not be considered a cross examination when I am forced to submit my questions in advance. May I read you a part of yesterday's testimony?"

"No," Ferguson ruled. "Just submit your questions."

Sends More Questions

Hughes sent another sheaf of questions to Ferguson, and the Michigan senator asked: "is that all of them?"

Hughes replied in the negative and again demanded "how can anyone cross-examine if he is not allowed to predicate one question on the answer to another."

He then asked to make a brief statement, and before Ferguson could stop him, Hughes declared that yesterday Ferguson had promised him the same privileges that Brewster would have. In view of this Hughes continued, would Ferguson turn over to him (Hughes) in advance the questions the committee intended to put to him (Hughes).

Ferguson read Hughes' first question:

"Is it not true you have repeatedly been one of the principal sponsors of the community airline bill?"

This is a measure now pending in congress. Brewster is a co-sponsor of it. The legislation would require consolidation of all overseas air traffic by U. S. companies in one firm, giving Pan American—the first in the overseas field—the largest block of stock in the new firm.

Brewster replied that "the answer to that is obvious," but he added that it was first introduced by Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) several years ago, and has been the subject of repeated hearings.

Ferguson: "The next question is 'you were active and vigorous in efforts to have this bill passed, were you not?'"

Brewster replied that "whatever I take hold of I try to do the best I can," adding that he has been interested in aviation for 25 years.

The examination went on:

Q. Pan-American airways was also extremely active in supporting this bill?

A. That is true.

Q. "Is it not true that if the bill were passed, the stockholders of Pan-American would end up in control of the single airline . . . and that this would result in a monopoly?"

A. "It is absolutely not true." Brewster said the bill provides that a certain percentage of the stock of any community airline would be offered to railroads, to shipbuilders, domestic airlines and to "the overseas facilities of the airlines which would be taken over."

Says Brewster Lies

In advance of his return to Capitol Hill (9 a. m. EST), the California plane builder and movie maker labeled the senator's denial "pretty weak." He added in a radio broadcast last night that "just about everyone in the aviation industry recognizes that Brewster is lying" in saying that he never heard of the proposed merger of Pan-American Airways and Trans World Airline before a talk with Hughes six months ago.

During his appearance as a witness yesterday Hughes charged that "in so many words" the Maine senator had proposed at a hotel luncheon here last February that the inquiry need go no further "if I agreed to merge the TWA airline with Pan-American and agreed to go along with the bill for a single overseas airline."

Hughes controls TWA. Brewster denied any connection with Pan-American.

Hughes said his aids found they couldn't "make an equitable transaction" with Juan Trippe, head of Pan-American, and he ordered them "to drop the matter there, at least for the time being."

Then, he said, Francis Flanagan, assistant committee counsel, began "acting very tough" about going into the Hughes' company records.

"It was apparent to me from the timing it was the application of screws . . . after my failure to accede to the wishes of Mr. Trippe," Hughes testified.

Quickly taking the stand Brewster denied that he ever had promised or acted to stall the committee's investigation.

STATE REFORMATORY GETS BLANKENSHIP

Taken There Today To Serve Time for Arson.

Orval L. Blankenship, 23, upon whom sentence was pronounced on an arson charge yesterday by Common Pleas Judge Paul Smith, will serve at least a part of his two to 20 years' prison term in the state reformatory at Mansfield.

This is Blankenship's first offense the records show, and being under the age when prisoners ordinarily are committed to the penitentiary and within the age limit for commitment to the reformatory, he will begin serving his sentence at the latter institution, officials state. Under the state's flexible program prisoners are committed within the system after starting their sentences.

Blankenship was removed to the reformatory at Mansfield this afternoon by the sheriff's department. He was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of arson in connection with the $90,0000 fire which destroyed the Marion Plant Life Fertilizer Co. plant last May. Yesterday, before Judge Smith, he changed a plea of not guilty to guilty and was sentenced to the reformatory.

Seneca County Farmer Faces Charge in Death

By The United Press

TIFFIN, Aug. 7—Ernest J. Wilkinson, 45, Seneca county farmer and livestock buyer, today was at liberty under $2,500 bond awaiting grand jury action on charges of manslaughter in the death of James Guy Hossler, 56, a week ago.

Wilkinson pleaded innocent to the manslaughter charge last night. His arrest followed an investigation after an autopsy disclosed the farm worker died of a hemorrhage.

Sheriff George R. Steinmetz said Wilkinson admitted in a statement to him and Prosecutor Webb D. Tomb that he struck Hossler with his fist during an argument.

Tennessee Pastor Makes Long Trips

By International News Service

BRUNSWICK, Tenn.—Rev. J. E. Williams, pastor of the Brunswick Baptist church, is a commuter extraordinary.

He has traveled 66,852 miles in the past three years, to and from his church.

Rev. Williams is a student at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas. He makes the 1238-mile round trip between Fort Worth and Brunswick each weekend

Not All-Year Round

This doesn't go on all-year round, the indefatigable minister admits. He studies at the seminary only one term at a time. He explained:

"I went to the seminary during the summer terms of 1943, 1944 and 1945. Last year and this, I elected to study in the Spring semesters."

The minister's weekly intinerary is staggering. Each Friday he leaves Fort Worth at 5 p. m. arriving in Memphis at 6:50 a. m. Saturday. He goes to the homes of his good friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Jackson, where he has breakfast and picks up his round trip ticket for the next weekend.

To Summer, Highland, Brunswick

He boards a street car and rides to Summer. There he gets off, walks to Highland and then hitchhikes to Brunswick.

He then delivers a sermon.

On Saturday, he manages to visit his congregation. On Sunday night, a member of his flock drives him to Memphis where he boards the train for Fort Worth and another week of study.

Rev. Williams is studying for his masters degree in both religious education and divinity.

His church doesn't suffer from inattention because of the minister's crowded schedule. Total contributions from his congregation have progressed from less than $1000 to almost $7000 a year since he became pastor three years ago.

To fill in his "spare time," Rev. Williams makes plans for his trip to Copenhagen, Denmark, where he will attend the Baptist World Congress.

Lightning Does Strike Twice in Same Place—in Fact It May Twelve Times

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Science Writer

NEW YORK — So you think lightning does not strike twice in the same place? Wrong, it strikes as many as 12 times.

Science already has determined that face and now a new experiment will start soon atop the Empire State building, tallest in the world.

The new studies will be done by "lightning scientists" of the General Electric Co., who first conducted such experiments in 1935 and up to 1941, when they were suspended because of the war.

The earlier studies showed that the skyscraper was struck by lightning 12 times in one storm, and that, at one time, it struck nine times in 20 minutes.

Cameras revealed that about 80 per cent of the lightning strokes originated at the top of the building an unusual phenomenon.

Building Shoots Lightning

Such a phenomenon is a reverse procedure of the cloud-to-ground stroke familiar to most persons, and is "triggered off" when the building builds up an excess of positive current from the earth, scientists explain. In other words, the building, sometimes instead of being struck by lightning, throws off great bolts of electricity.

The GE scientists also have blasted another common belief—that thunder usually follows all displays of lightning. It was found that some of the strokes coming off the tall building produced no thunder.

It was further found that some strokes consist of a more or less steady current of electricity, traveling a million times faster than sound, and that such current persisted as long as a second and one half.

The GE scientists, just as Benjamin Franklin, are still in the dark on many mysteries of lightning, and they hope their new studies will bring forth some answers.

Sensitive Devices

They will use sensitive lightning recording devices. At first, the study will be limited to instrument recordings, but later cameras will be used.

The new studies, the scientists hope, will enable man to increase his ability to produce lightning in the laboratory. That, they point out, is important in the development of improved practice in connection with the transmission and use of electricity.

From a layman's viewpoint, the scientists in learning more about lightning may also come up with some new answers on how to avoid being struck by it.

In the good old days, grandmothers used to jump into a feather bed to avoid lightning. Science has no proof that such a precaution worked, but some day they may have a scientific answer.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Depression, Prosperity

DISEASE often has an economic background and alternating cycles of prosperity and depression are as clearly reflected in a doctor's office as in business charts. That is, the types of ailments a doctor is called on to treat vary greatly with the economic health of the nation.

This is illustrated vividly by the experience of Dr. Leonidas H. Berry of Chicago, who has examined 1,400 patients with the gastroscope. The gastroscope is an instrument made up of a tube with a light which permits the physician to look directly into the stomach and inspect the condition of its lining membrane.

In the course of these many examinations, Dr. Berry found that a condition known as chronic atrophic gastritis occurred three times more often in the four years preceding World War II than in the more prosperous period of 1942 to 1946. More than half the patients examined by him in the pre-war years had this disorder whereas it was present in only about one of six of the wartime group.

Atrophic gastritis is a condition in which there is wasting of the tissues in the lining membrane of the stomach. It is accompanied by such symptoms as indigestion, loss of appetite, bowel disturbance, loss of weight, and fatigue.

Careful study of the patients in the pre-war group, showed that most of them had been receiving insufficient food over a long period of time. It was discovered that the amount of vitamin C in the food was below normal. The patients were suffering from anemia with a lessening of the amount of coloring matter and of the number of red cells in the blood. Their weight was below normal, and there were other evidences of lack of vitamins such as spongy gums, and general poor nutrition. Fatigue and weakness were common symptoms.

When these patients began taking more food, including all of the necessary vitamins and minerals, many of the cases of atrophic gastritis cleared up. Thus it would seem that there is a definite relationship between the recurrence of atrophic gastritis and general nutrition of the patient. Moreover, as prosperity increased the number of new cases was lessened.

The use of a well-balanced diet, supplying not only the quantity of food required but also the necessary food parts, not only helps to maintain general health but may also be a factor in preventing the development of atrophic gastritis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. B.: I had a goitre operation years years ago. I am fifty-seven years old. Now, I have muscle spasm. I have had a light stroke. Do you think prostigmin would help this condition.

Answer: Treatment with prostigmin has been found beneficial in conditions of this type. Of course, it should be employed only under the directions of your physician.

J. M.: Will you please tell me something about varicose veins?

Answer: A varicose vein is one which has become dilated or enlarged. This condition is seen most frequently in the legs. It is caused by obstruction to the circulation, or a weakening of the valves in the large veins, such as is due to pregnancy, or because of inactive living.

The use of exercise and message, and the wearing of an elastic bandage are helpful in relieving and preventing varicose veins. Sometimes these veins are removed by operation. Recently, varicose veins have been treated by means of injection.

Geologist Speaks To Galion Kiwanis Club

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug 7—Lyle Kirk, geologist of Columbus, was speaker for the luncheon-meeting of the Galion Kiwanis club Tuesday noon at Hotel Talbott

Kirk who was introduced by John Baxter, manager of the local offices of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., told about storage and production proulems of the company.

He explained about underground storage which is being used and said that 65 per cent of the gas used in Ohio is imported from out of the state Oil wells are used as storage places, he said The problem is to try to keep pace with every-day demands Inability to obtain pipe and pumping equipment to keep the supply moving in Ohio is one of the major problems Kirk reported that Galion is in good position to receive gas because it is located not far from the Zanesville storage area Gas along storage areas are being moved constantly, the speaker said In the three areas now being used 79 billion cubic feet of gas is stored with 50 billion cubic feet moving out on the average

125 MAGIC MAKERS HOLD CONVENTION NEAR KENTON

"Flying Saucers" Mystery Still Unsolved, Magicians Report.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Aug 7—No one in Kenton reported strange happenings over Saturday afternoon or evening but if they had, there would have been little doubt as to the source For it was there some 125 gathered at famed Egyptian hall at the Tom and Bob Dowd farm east of the city—for a get-together and homecoming arranged by the Dowd brothers

So it would have been no surprise if some of their magical doings spilled over and caused consternation elsewhere than at Magic Meadows' Incidentally, we have had no report that any of the magi gathered had a answer to the "flying saucers" reports that covered the nation not long ago, either

It will be no surprise, either, if one of these days, Kenton wakes up and finds itself host again to the convention of the International Brotherhood of Magicians, for there was just about 100 per cent agreement among the magi that they would like to see a grand homecoming convention" scheduled for Kenton. Whether Kenton can take care of an augmented crowd of from 750 to 1,000, as against 300 to 400 who came here in the early days of the brotherhoods organization under the late 'Colonel Bill' Durbin, — well, that's for Kenton to decide, for the magicians are pretty well set, according to their informally expressed desires.

Magicians were present for the Dowds party from Indiana Kentucky Michigan, New York, Illinois and Ohio The largest contingent was the Magic Hobby club of Columbus which came up 50 strong in a chartered bus of the Greyhound lines Norman O Cummins Wilmington, O was master of ceremonies for the afternoon magic show where all the latest 'tricks of the trade' were set forth to the magi

PETITIONS FLOOD HUMMEL'S OFFICE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7—The office of Secretary of State Edward Hummel looked like a filling station today as he awaited county election boards calling for public vote on constitutional amendment to use of gasoline taxes and motor license fees to road and bridges.

The proposal—filed yesterday by the Committee for Better Highways and Streets"—probably would add to four the number of constitutional changes brought before the electorate in the coming November election.

As the legislature proposed three. Secretary Hummel accepted the petitions from a large clothes basket in which proponents brought them to the statehouse.

Chairman Charles, said James G. Stahlman of the United Commercial Service, a member of the Ohio Petitioners contained 292,806 signatures from 70 counties.

He said 220,375 valid signatures, or 10 per cent of the total vote cast for governor at the last election, are required.

The proposed amendment is designed primarily to prohibiting the proceeds of the present one cent liquid fuel tax from going into the general revenue fund where it may be used for any purpose the legislature sees fit.

The tax now produces about $15,000,000 a year.

The legislature proposed the following constitutional amendments:

The $300,000,000 soldiers bonus bond measure, increasing probate judge terms from four to six years, and adding the governor and treasurer to the state board of sinking fund trustees, now composed of the secretary of state, auditor and attorney general.

It appeared probable the gasoline tax proposal would join this trio after county election boards certify the validity of the signatures on the petitions.

Naturalization Agent Coming Here Aug. 22

Two persons seeking to become citizens of the United States will be examined by a representative of the U. S. department of justice, immigration and naturalization service from Columbus on Tuesday, Aug. 22, word received in the clerk of courts office states.

The representative also will be available to the public at 12:30 p. m. to discuss immigration and naturalization problems, including the filing of bonds by veterans who desire to bring their fiancees to the United States, Clerk Calvin Oborn states.

RADIO PROGRAM FEATURED BY PROGRESSIVE GRANGE

"Tom Breneman" and "Corny" Entertain Guests.

An open meeting was held by Progressive Grange Tuesday night, July 29, in the Grange hall with a large number of guests present. An outstanding event of the evening was a "Breakfast in Hollywood" program, featuring Lewis Wickersham as "Tom Breneman" and Harold Wickersham as "Corny," performers on the radio program.

Mr. Wickersham as Tom Breneman met and talked with the ladies, awarded prizes, selected odd types of hats worn by persons in the group.

Mrs. Arthur Spring and Mrs. Harling Spring were selected as wearing the most original and unusual hats. 'Corny" gave his usual laugh-provoking jokes and presented some of the prizes, Jerry Gorby won the wishing ring, Mrs Albert Click was the oldest lady present and received a gift and a kiss from Tom, and the good neighbor letter was read and a gift was presented to the good, good neighbor.

Another feature of the program was a number of solos by Harling Spring, music director in Kansas City, Kas., accompanied at the piano by his wife. Mr. Spring is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Spring, members of Progressive Grange.

Arrangements for the program were in charge of Miss Alice Price, lecturer. A pie and ice cream festival was held with Mrs. Sam Wolfinger, Mrs. Floyd Higgins and Miss Eleanor Mitchell in charge, assisted by several ladies of the Grange. During the festival, the Marion County Grange orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Cecil Davis rehearsed the music to be furnished at the degree meeting in Mansfield in the near future.

SUMMER MEAT LOAF . . . Gelatin mold.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

There's nothing cooler looking or tasting on a sultry day than a jellied meat or fish loaf. These can be served with cooked or raw vegetable salad — provided you serve a hot soup first, or something else hot with the meal. On the other hand, a very good way to arrange the essential hot dish in every meal is to serve the following:

Macedoine of Vegetables

1½ cups cooked green beans, 1½ cups diced cooked carrots, 1½ cups cooked celery crescents, 1/3 cup melted butter or vitaminized margarine, garlic salt, pepper, freshly ground.

Combine hot vegetables with butter or margarine and season with garlic salt and pepper. Serve in individual cups or dishes, so that the hot vegetables will not spoil the cold entree, which is inevitable if they are served on the same plate.

Here's a delicious sauce to serve with molded meat or fish entrees.

Sour Cream Sauce

1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon finely chopped chives, 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 stuffed olives, chopped, freshly ground black pepper.

Combine all ingredients, beating them together well. Serve icy cold.

Here are some of those suggeted cold entrees:

Summer Meat Loaf

2 tablespoons gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup hot veal stock or chicken bouillon, ¼ cup real mayonnaise, 1/3 cup sandwich spread, 3 cups finely chopped cooked veal, ¼ cup chopped pimiento, 2 tablespoons, minced parsley, ½ teaspoon salt, Boston lettuce.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot stock or bouillon and stir until dissolved. Cool slightly and add mayonnaise and sandwich spread. Combine veal, pimiento, parsley, onion and salt, and fold in mayonnaise mixture. Pack in 5x9 loaf pan which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold on chop plate. Garnish with Boston lettuce and additional chopped pimiento and minced parsley.

Halibut Mousse

1 package gelatin, 1 cup hot water, 1 cup cold water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, ¾ cup mayonnaise, 1 cup shredded cooked halibut, 1 cup cooked peas, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, 2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill (optional).

Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Add hot water, lemon juice, vinegar and salt. Cool. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in other ingredients. Turn into mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Serve on a bed of crisp lettuce, accompanied by a dish of mayonnaise.

The earthquake that shook San Francisco in 1906 could be felt for 730 miles from Oregon to Los Angeles and as far east as Nevada.

VETERANS' NEWS AND INFORMATION

Prepared by The Public Relations Service, Veterans Administration, Branch Office No. 6, 82 E. Sterling street, Columbus, 6, Ohio. Phone Main 6361; Ext. 361.

War-Time Vets Entitled To Insurance Choice

Veterans who saw service in World Wars I and II are eligible for United States government National Service Life insurance protection in a combined amount not to exceed $10,000.

Ex-service veterans may carry NSLI in either type of insurance or may combine their policies up to the $10,000 limitation. VA officials said it is possible for these veterans to carry their World War I insurance on a term basis and their National Service Life insurance on a permanent plan.

Veterans should consult their nearest VA office for detailed information concerning government insurance.

* * *

Veterans May Use Leave Orders For GI Training

Persons being discharged from service now may use their terminal leave orders as basis for temporary certificates of eligibility for education or job-training under the GI Bill.

Applicants whose orders show at least eight days of terminal leave, indicating a minimum of 90 days' service may obtain from VA temporary certificates which enable them to take immediate advantage of education or training benefits. However, applicants are not eligible for subsistence allowances until formally discharged.

VA said the temporary certificate later is replaced by a regular form, after the exact period of entitlement is determined from the veteran's service records.

* * *

Special Nerve Surgery Available Through VA

Veterans in need of surgery of the nervous system now are sent to 41 specially equipped and staffed hospital centers operated by the Veterans Administration or under contract to it. VA operates 37 centers in its own hospitals.

Each center has special equipment, neurosurgeons and other skilled personnel necessary to perform all types of neurosurgical operations, including pre-frontal leukotomies. The latter operation, involving surgery on the frontal lobe of the brain, usually is not performed in the average general medical hospital.

VA neurosurgery hospitals include those at Dayton and Cleveland, O., Dearborn, Mich. and Louisville, Ky.

* * *

Correspondence Courses Available Under GI Bill

Correspondence courses are available to eligible World War II veterans under the educational provisions of the G.I. Bill.

The courses cover a wide range of subjects, including such specialized studies as gemology, criminology, yacht designing, cinematography, industrial plastics and air conditioning.

VA has contracts with approximately 180 state-approved schools, colleges, universities and other institutions in the U. S. to give veterans mail-order courses at government expense.

Veterans may be enrolled only in those correspondence courses for which contracts have been negotiated. The veteran's period of eligibility (the length of time he is entitled to education or training under the GI Bill) is charged at the rate of one-fourth of the time he spends pursuing his courses.

* * *

2,000 Veterans Study Abroad Under GI Bill

More than 5,000 World War II veterans now are studying abroad under the educational provisions of the G.I. Bill, the Veterans Administration reported today.

VA said ex-GI's are enrolled in 332 foreign institutions in 34 countries. The Philippine Republic with 1,411 veterans heads the list. Canada is second with 571.

Veterans are eligible for overseas study on the same basis as in the U. S. Those who wish to study abroad must arrange for their own passports, visas and transportation.

Q. I understand that the government will guarantee up to $4,000 on a business loan. Is this correct?

A. It is correct if the business loan is for the purchase of business real estate property, but if the loan is for non-real estate property the maximum guarantee cannot be more than $2,000.

Q. How is the length of entitlement for education or job-training calculated and does a year of entitlement mean a school year or a calendar year?

A. Under the G.I. Bill, an eligible veteran generally is entitled to education or job-training for a period of one calendar year, plus the time he spent in service between Sept. 16, 1940, and July 25, 1947. The total period of education or training may not exceed four calendar years.

Q. I have been drawing $57.50 each month from my $10,000 war risk insurance policy since my discharge from the Army after World War I. Are such payments discontinued when the $10,000 is exhausted?

A. No. Payments may be continued for the remainder of your life provided your total disability remains unchanged.

Q. Why do I have to pay two monthly premiums instead of one when I reinstate my lapsed GI insurance policy?

A. One premium is for the 31-day grace period following the date of lapse, during which the insurance was continued in force without payment of premium; the other is for the current month of the reinstatement.

Q. My son, a World War II veteran is in a VA hospital and I would like to know if I can visit him every day?

A. Yes. All VA hospitals have special hours set aside each day for visitors the same as civilian hospitals.

Marion and Nearby Districts Observe Soil Conservation's 10th Anniversary

Farmers of Marion county, Headwaters, Divide and Union soil conservation districts are joining fellow land workers of Ohio and the other 47 states this month in observing the tenth anniversary of the soil conservation district program.

In the four-county area, in which some 550 farm operators have brought approximately 75,000 acres of land under soil and water conservation practices, the Marion county district is the youngest and Headwaters district of Morrow county is the oldest, according to E. E. Hecker of Mt. Gilead, district conservationist for the U. S. soil conservation service.

Established in the fall of 1945 by vote of Marion county farmers, the Marion county district is the forty-third organized among Ohio's present 88 districts to which the U. S. soil conservation service is furnishing technical assistance, acre by acre.

Headwaters district, third oldest in the state, was organized in the fall of 1942.

Divide district of Crawford county was the thirty-seventh set up in the state and Union district of Union county was the thirty-ninth.

The first soil conservation district was voted in 10 years ago this month by the farmers of Anson county, North Carolina.

When the group of Colorado farmers this month organized the San Juan soil conservation district, they pushed the total land area covered by districts past the billion-acre mark. There are now four and a half million American farms in districts. Farmers of 48 states and Puerto Rico have organized and manage 1,806 soil conservation districts which cover nearly 88 per cent of the nation's farming and more than half of its total land area, records of the U. S. soil conservation service show.

At Washington, Chief Hugh H. Bennett of the U. S. soil conservation service, credited with having done more than any other man in the drive to save the nation's vanishing topsoil discussed the district plan, under which farmers are enabled to organize by petition and elect a working organization of their own under laws passed by their own states. He declared: "This action by American farmers marks the beginning of a movement that can insure the permanency of our nation. It provides permanent security for our most natural resource — the topsoil, without which America cannot survive."

1/3 OF A CENT

STEEL PRODUCERS have announced new prices for certain of their products. As a result steel prices are up an average of less than one-third of a cent a pound.

The higher cost of living hits steel plants as well as individuals. Steelmaking costs have risen sharply since January of this year—and they are still going up.

This average steel price increase adds:

- $11 to the total cost of all the steel used in a typical automobile.
- 65 cents to the total cost of all the steel in an average domestic refrigerator.
- $5 to the cost of the steel in a medium-sized farm tractor.
- $25 for all the steel used in building a 5 or 6 room one-family house.

At the present average price of 3½ cents per pound, steel is the lowest priced of all metals.

How much have steel plant "living costs" gone up?

THE CHIEF items of cost in steelmaking are wages, raw materials, equipment, fuel and transportation. Since January 1, 1947, these changes have taken place in typical annual cost items of the steel industry:

Wages have increased $240,000,000
Scrap has increased $160,000,000
Freight has increased $75,000,000
Fuel oil has increased $50,000,000
Coal has increased $90,000,000

These and other items of increase since January 1, 1947, have added more than $600,000,000 to the annual costs of the steel industry.

This sum is more than the combined earnings of all the steel companies for three years past.

It amounts to nearly $6.00 a ton on the present annual tonnage of steel ingots.

To help meet this higher cost of living in steel plants, steel prices have been increased on the average by less than $4.00 a ton.

The increase in steel prices since 1939 is only about half as much as the increase in commodity prices generally and is less than half as much as the increase in the average of steel wage rates.

Turkey Pops from Cooker and Soars Out Of Window—So Chef Changes Menu

Patrons of Boughers' Grill on East Center street might have been waiting for a turkey dinner yesterday but they were doomed to disappointment.

The prepared bird had "flown" the pot.

Maybe Mr. Turkey objected to being cooked out of season or maybe he just decided to take one last look around. Whatever the reason the reluctant fowl had the chef's father just before noon and when he returned to the kitchen to find Mr. Turkey had disappeared.

Shortly before, the fowl had been dressed and placed in a pressure cooker and set over the flame on the stove. The chef had walked from the kitchen to the front of the building and while there he heard a noise. Returning to the kitchen he spied the pressure utensil teetering on the edge of the stove when he looked in the window Mr. Turkey was gone.

The kitchen was searched, but the elusive bird wasn't to be found. Turning into an amateur sleuth, the chef noticed the open window just above the stove, so the investigation was carried on. The bird was found lying in Court street outside the kitchen window.

The cover apparently hadn't been fastened tightly on one side and when the steam gathered, the lid was forced open and the adventuring fowl was off on his brief flight in a cloud of steam.

Several elderly men who were taking advantage of the shady side of the courthouse looked up in time to see the bird on it's last takeoff and wondered if modern service had improved so much that a dinner now came jet-propelled.

Last-minute substitutions on the menu had to be made.

Hoot Mon Wins Hambletonian; Sets New Record of 2 Minutes

$50,000 Colt Beats Rodney In Two Heats

By The Associated Press

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 7—Mr. and Mrs. James B. Johnson, who breed sulky-pullers at Lexington, Ky., and show horses at Rochester, Mich., came up with Hoot Mon, who'd only cost them $50,000 a year ago, to win the Hambletonian yesterday.

Hoot Mon was the highest-priced gee-gee ever to run in a Hambletonian. And he not only meandered home in front of the Dixie Flyer, red hot Rodney, in two out of three heats, but he ran the fastest Hambletonian of them all—a mile in two minutes flat—to do it.

It wasn't only a Hambletonian record, in fact, but equalled Greyhound's mark for the fastest time ever posted in a race in all trotting history.

With that sizzler leading off, this twenty-second corn-tassel hustle turned out to be the record-settingest one of all the 22 in the books. A new attendance high of 18,333 was chalked up and they shoveled $151,907 into the mutuels on the Hambletonian alone and $336,024 on the 16-race "endurance contest" program for a couple more new all-time toppers.

However, there was one misfortune to mark an otherwise perfect day at the good time track.

Three sections of temporary bleachers near the stretch—holding 546 seats—collapsed—and crashed to the ground, injuring 73 fans, two of them seriously.

Hoot Mon's Driver Here Many Times

Sep Palin the veteran harness driver from Indianapolis who held the reins behind Hoot Mon, winner of the Hambletonian stake at Goshen, N. Y. yesterday has driven here many times. He was here at the Little Grand Circuit meeting last year and was one of the leading drivers. Sep drives for the Castleton Farms of Lexington, Ky., owned by Mrs. J. B. Johnston, of Detroit, heir to the Dodge motor millions.

Palin did not have Hoot Mon in his stables at the time he was here last. The horse was purchased as a two year old after he left the Marion track.

Indians Call On Black in Effort To Stop Detroit

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 7—Cleveland's Indians, after absorbing a double defeat, depended on Don (No-Hit) Black today to stop the Detroit Tigers in the final game of their current series.

The double victory by 13 to 6 and 7 to 5 margins yesterday pushed the Tigers ahead of the Boston Red Sox into second place in the American league.

Trying for his fourteenth win, Bobby Feller opened for Cleveland in the first contest, but was yanked in the seventh and followed to the mound by Ed Klieman, Bryant Stephens and Les Willis. Stephens was charged with the loss.

The two teams collected 10 homers in the contests, two of them by Hank Edwards of the Indians, whose wallop in the third inning of the opener sailed onto the roof of the rightfield stands.

In the nightcap, the Tigers gained all seven of their runs in the first two innings before Red Embree relieved veteran Mel Harder.

IN BATTLE ROYAL TONIGHT

An all-star five man battle royal will set the stage for a lot of action tonight at the Marion Armory. Five of the best grapplers in this part of the country are signed. They are Rufus Jones, the head butting gent from New York, Billy Fox, former Master Gunnery Sergeant of the Marines, George Strickland, Ohio State U. student, Sammy (Red Devil) Kohen and Frankie Taliber of Columbus. The first man to loose is out for the evening, next two to lose return for the semi-final and last two left in the ring come back for the Main Event. All matches two out of three falls. A ten minute prelim between two Marion boys, Don Grove and Herb Williams will start the show at 8:30. Call 2745 after six for reservatons.—Adv.

$50 Fine and 30-Day Suspension Handed Zanesville Player

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7—A $50 fine and a 30-day suspension—stiffest penalty ever assessed in the Ohio State league—was imposed on outfielder Robert Bartholomew of the Zanesville Dodgers today.

Frank M. Colley, league president, levied the penalty because Bartholomew, he said, threw a bat into the grandstand at Zanesville Tuesday night in an argument with Umpire Henry O'Grady. Two spectators were injured slightly.

The player had disputed a called second strike and was ordered out of the game.

"It is no credit to Bartholomew that one of the spectators wasn't killed or seriously injured," Colley said. "Fans are entitled to protection against rowdyism on the part of players and they are going to get it. This is not the first outburst by player Bartholomew, but it will be his last for a while."

Bartholomew will be privileged to play again Sept. 5.

SWIM MEET OPENS

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7 — A two-day "Meet of Champions" opens tonight in the Los Angeles swimming stadium with numerous nationally known aquatic stars slated to compete in open events sponsored by the city recreation department. Several performers, including Hawaiian Bill Smith of Ohio State and Wally Ris of Iowa, recent contestants in the national senior A.A.U. meet at Tyler, Tex., hoped to lower American records in the swimming events.

PEPPE OLYMPIC COACH

CHICAGO, Aug. 7—Robert J. H. Kiphuth of Yale university, and Mike Peppe, of Ohio State, have been appointed swimming and diving coaches for the 1948 U. S. Olympic teams, the swimming committee announced today. Peppe has been coaching O.S.U. championship teams for the last decade. It will be his first Olympic appearance.

Dodgers Losing Punch That Gave Them 10-Game League Lead Only Week Ago

Associated Press Sports Writer
By JOE REICHLER

The frantic Brooklyn citizenry was wondering today whether the coroner would supply an affidavit to the effect that the current Dodger "corpus delicti," which has dropped five of its last six games, is the same very much alive body which boasted a 10-game lead only a week ago.

Last night the Boston Braves made it two out of three with a 7-3 victory over the Brooks, the very same bunch who entered St. Louis last week with a seven game lead and walloped the runner-up Cards three straight times to apparently sew up the National league flag.

While Brooklyn has been getting belted three straight times in Chicago and twice in three starts in Boston, the Redbirds have roared back with six straight victories including last night's 6-3 win over Cincinnati, to trail by five games.

With Larry Jansen, the Pacific Coast league rookie righthander continuing his excellent mound work, the New York Giants knocked off the last place Philadelphia Phillies 5-2 in a daylight game at the Polo grounds. Three unearned runs in the first inning won for the Giants.

The Pittsburgh Pirates snapped a 2-2 tie with a three-run rally in the sixth and added two more in the ninth to defeat the Cubs in Chicago 7-2. Roger Wolff, former American leaguer, won his first National league victory.

Bobo Newsom suffered his first setback as a member of the New York Yankees when the Athletics nipped the Bronx Bombers 5-3 in Philadelphia. Newsom blew up in the sixth after yielding only one hit in five innings as the A's batted around for four runs.

The Detroit Tigers moved into second place 13 games behind the American league leading Yankees by taking both ends of a double-header from the Cleveland Indians 13-6 and 7-5.

The Boston Red Sox dropped into third place one game behind the Tigers when Washington beat them for the second straight night 1-0. Lefty Mickey Haefner limited the Red Sox to five hits. The Senators got only two infield singles off starter Earl Johnson and Mickey Harris in the opening inning and aided by an error by Bobby Doerr, scored an unearned run.

The Chicago White Sox bunched five of their 10 hits in the second inning to score five runs and defeat the Browns in a night game in St. Louis 7-3.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

Pitching, Mickey Haefner, Senators—Shut out the Red Sox 1-0 for the second time this season, holding Ted Williams and company to five hits.

Batting, Bob Elliott, Braves—Hit a three-run homer and scored twice to lead the Braves to a 7-3 victory over the Dodgers.

DEFENDING CHAMP FAVORED TO WIN

By The United Press

CAMP PERRY, Aug. 7 — Defending Champion Wayne Moore of Washington, Pa., although in second place as shooting started today, was rated the favorite to win the small bore rifle championship in finals of the national tournament.

Robert E. Perkins, Fresno, Cal., took the lead yesterday with a total of 1,997 of a possible 2,000, but Moore, four points off the pace after a poor first day, gained three points yesterday and trailed by only one point with 1,996 of a possible 2,000. There were 790 entries in the match. Dave Carlson, New Haven, Conn., the 1940 champ, and John Crowley, Hamden, Conn., were tied for third at 1,995.

Audrey Bockman, 16-year-old from Ridgefield, N. J., yesterday became the first girl ever to win the national junior rifle crown as she marked up a score of 1,590 out of a possible 1,600. Paul Kromann of Holland, Mich., was second with 1,588.

Tris Speaker played a few games at first base for Washington in 1927.

SCANDLING WINNER OF SECOND FLIGHTS

Joseph Scandling, by virtue of a two-up win over David Pollak this week, won the class B championship of play for the president's cup at the Country Club.

Scandling was one-up on Pollak going into the eighteenth hole and shot low to take the title. The class A championship will be decided in a match between Maurice Cornell and James K. Rutherford.

Yesterday was stag day at the club. William Freck posted 41 and 38 for the low gross of the day. Blind bogey winners were Sherman Borland, Frank Weidemann and A. E. Cheney with 82.

A guest of Dr. W. A. Dennis, K. A. Browning of Cincinnati, won honors on the sixth hole driving to within six feet of the pin. Carl Knirk and Frank Moore each drove to within seven feet. Distance from the tee to the flag on this hole is 150 yards.

Next Wednesday Country Club golfers will go to Bucyrus for a match with the Bucyrus Country Club. The local club expects to send a 20 man team.

HOOT MON, with Sep Palin at the reins, nosed out the favorite, Rodney, to win the third heat of the $50,000 Hambletonian stakes at Goshen, N. Y., yesterday after a victorious second heat in two minutes flat had set a new record for the famous trotting event for three-year-olds. The two-minute mile bettered by 1¼ seconds the record for the Hambletonian established in 1932 by Hollywood Dennis and the fast time of Greyhound in the same race at Goshen later in 2:02¼. Hollywood Dennis only won one heat of the big stake, however, in the 1932 trotting as The Marchioness grabbed the other two dashes to receive credit for winning the stake.

UNDEFEATED TEAMS MEET AT DELAWARE IN LEGION TOURNEY

Columbus and Cincinnati Play Highlights Fourth Round Today.

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., Aug. 7 — Columbus St. Charles and defending champion Cincinnati Bentley Post, both undefeated in the Ohio American Legion junior baseball tournament, clashed in the classic's fourth round today.

In other games, Lima met Cuyahoga Falls and Cleveland met Brookville, all fighting to remain in the double elimination tourney. A loss today would eliminate any of these teams.

Yesterday, the Columbus club led all the way in defeating Cuyahoga Falls, 8 to 6. The Cincinnati nine was idle. Cincinnati has won twice and Columbus three times in tournament play.

Cincinnati hasn't been beaten in 25 starts while the Columbus nine, has a season win-loss record of 31 and 2. In Legion games only, Columbus has won and lost two.

Lima rode into the fourth round on John Mulcahey's homer that provided the winning run against Perrysburg yesterday.

Cleveland, with Tony Trolli connecting for two homers and a single, gave Portsmouth's Bob Ehrman his first setback in eight Legion mound starts.

Eliminated yesterday were Portsmouth, Perrysburg and Coshocton.

Cards Find Friend In Reds As They Drive for Pennant

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Aug. 7 — The surging St. Louis Cardinals, hot in pursuit of the league-leading Dodgers, have found a helpmate in the person of the Cincinnati Reds.

The Redlegs committed three costly errors last night to fall before the Cards 6-3.

St. Louis collected a total of six hits last night to give Murry Dickson his eighth victory and send Johnny Vander Meer to his tenth defeat.

The Reds got away to a one-run lead in the third frame but Stan Musial tied it up in the next round with his twelfth homer of the season and before the fourth inning was over the Cards were ahead 2-1. A double steal by Whitey Kurowski and Enos Slaughter and Catcher Ray Mueller's poor throw to third were responsible for the second run.

Terry Moore clouted a round-tripper for St. Louis in the sixth.

Eddie Lukon started a Redleg rally in the ninth when he connected for his eighth homer of the season with a mate aboard but Dickson sent the next three batters down in order.

St. Paul Pitcher Wins 14th Game

By The Associated Press

Phil Haugstad, the lanky right hand pitcher from Humbird, Wis., had 14 American association baseball victories to his credit today after hurling the seventh-place St. Paul Saints to a 5-3 triumph over Columbus last night in the seven-inning opener of a doubleheader.

"Hogie" allowed the Red Birds six hits, while his mates collected eight — including five two baggers — off Charlie Stanceau. Columbus took the nightcap, 4-2.

In other association games Indianapolis and Milwaukee divided a doubleheader, the Indians taking the first, 5-4, and the Brewers annexing the second game, 7-5. In a single contest at Toledo, the revived Mud Hens won their third straight game, downing Minneapolis, 9-8.

Snatches of Sports

By CHICK HOSCH
(For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

ATLANTA, Aug. 7—Paul (Bear) Bryant, Kentucky's young football coach, at first glance appears to have scored the south's greatest victory since Bull Run.

A tentative roster of 48 freshmen gridders list 27 "Yankees," including nine from Pennsylvania and 10 from West Virginia. In fact, he got an entire "all-state-backfield from the latter state and a dozen others made various "honor" teams.

Bryant, younger at 33 than several of his assistants, started a 10-year contract for the Wildcats last year by winning seven games—more than any of his Southeastern conference predecessors.

To go with those 48 yearlings, Bryant has 28 lettermen and about 20 reserves from last fall. That's why Kentuckians, who in the past have shifted the conversation to horse racing or basketball, smile when it's recalled that rival coaches, in a recent poll on the probable order of finish, placed the Wildcats in the second division.

But the brightest Ohio star in Wally Butts' ballyard at the moment appears to be Bobby Walston, a prep halfback star last year at Columbus. Another Tie Game Bobs Up in City Softball Loop Play

Another tie game cropped up in city softball last night. It was about the fifth deadlock in the second round of play

Sunday School league teams were active in make-up matches and one of the games last night will have to be made-up again The other resulted in a decisive victory.

St. Mary 1 and Forest Lawn played to a 6-6 standstill in six innings. The game was called because of darkness. Winterstellar of St Mary got a homer and a double to lead hitters. Forest lawn trailed two runs going into the last of the fifth, three walks and a hit by Young enabled them to tie things up.

Evangelical United Brethren was without the services of most of its regular players last night, proving no match for Greenwood. The final score at the end of five innings, enough to make it a ball game, was Greenwood 17, Evangelican United Brethren 1.

Wilberforce To Field Two Football Teams

By The Associated Press

XENIA, O., Aug. 7—Wilberforce university intends to field two football teams this fall.

The Negro school currently is split by the African Methodist-Episcopal church's board of trustees' dismissal of Dr Charles H Wesley as president, Dr. Wesley has remained as president of the state-supported college of education and industrial arts and the churchmen have hired Dr. Charles Leander Hill as president of the AME's liberal arts and theology colleges

The state-supported side of the university is drafting a football schedule and has booked initial practice sessions for Sept. 1; and yesterday Dr. Hill announced his school will back its own football squad with a slate of seven games Dr. Hill said a coach for the "church" squad would be hired soon and home games would be played at Cox athletic field here, since athletic facilities at the university are property of the state-supported college

Lions Sparing No Expense To Build Flag Contender

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 7 — The Detroit Lions don't intend to let money stand in the way of their return to the National Football league title fight after a miserable 1946 campaign in which they won just one of 11 games

Newest addition is Bullet Bill Dudley who was lured out of proposed retirement as a player to sign a 1947 Detroit contract believed to be worth $25,000 to him.

Owner Fred L. Mandel Jr., of the Detroit club wouldn't say how deep he dug into his pocketbook to bring Dudley back to the game, but the offer was attractive enough to bring the former University of Virginia ace flying here from his honeymoon with his bride of eight days to accept the Lions' offer.

Detroit had to give up more than cash to get the NFL's most valuable player of 1946 in on its rebuilding program, too.

In return for Dudley and rookie end Jack Dugger of Ohio State, the Lions dealt Pittsburgh a pair of outstanding backs in Bobby Cifers, punting ace from Tennessee, recruit Paul White from Michigan, as well as rights to two players they don't even have yet.

One of those is Michigan's Bob Chappius, who holds the Western Conference total offense record for a single season and still has a year of eligibility left with the Wolverines.

And just to show how badly they wanted Dudley, who led NFL ground gainers in both his two full seasons in the league the Lions agreed to hand the Steelers rights to Detroit's No 1 selection in next winter's collegiate draft.

Cubs Start Road Trip for 5 Days; Return Monday

A five-game road trip will carry the Cubs to Springfield and Dayton. They play the Giants tonight and tomorrow and move to Dayton for a game Saturday night and a Sunday night doubleheader.

The locals will return to Lincoln park Monday for a five-game series with the league leading Dodgers followed by a three-game series with the Newark Browns ending Aug. 17.

The Giants will be without the services of their manager Don Ramsey who will be sitting out the last two days of his three-day suspension. President Frank M. Colley set the Springfield manager down for pushing Umpire O'Grady in an argument at Zanesville Tuesday night Bob Bartholomew, Zanesville outfielder, was also set down for throwing his bat into the stands. The bat is reported to have struck two people in the lower boxes. The suspension was made for an indefinite period, pending investigation. Bartholomew was protesting a called second strike.

Vince O'Grady was also banished from the same game for acting as messenger boy and carrying Manager Ramsay's instructions to the bench from the banished supper who was behind the grandstand.

Association President Gives Advice to Coast

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7—Frank C. Lane, American Association president, today declared the Pacific Coast league should "get its own house in order" before seeking a minor league rating above that of the American Association and the International league.

Lane put his finger on what he termed "various irregularities in the coast loop's 1947 schedule." He said:

"For example, this season Seattle plays Portland 30 games, but plays only 21 with Los Angeles. Oakland plays 30 games with Hollywood and only 21 with San Diego, and Sacramento plays 18 games at home with Oakland, but only 10 in the Oakland park, and so on inconsistently down the line."

Lane's attack was his second against Coast Prexy Clarence Rowland's avowed intention of seeking a higher minor league rating than the association and escape from the player draft.

The New York Giants beat the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5 Sept. 29, 1919, in 51 minutes—the shortest game in the history of the major leagues.

THAT'S IT. STAND THE TANK ON THE TABLE, THEN TAKE OUT THE WRENCHES.
WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO TO US?
YOU BOYS DON'T WANT TO PLAY BALL WITH ME, OKAY.
I'LL FIX IT SO YOU WON'T PLAY BALL WITH ANYBODY!

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

WHEN Katharine and I entered the sitting room, we found it untenanted, but we barely had seated ourselves before Dicky came through the door.

"I thought I heard the patter of tiny feet," he remarked. "Olina has departed with Faith—I said Mary was lying down—I do hope I didn't tell an untruth," he intoned, rolling his eyes upward.

"You didn't," Katharine assured him.

"Thank be to Allah from little G. Washington, Jr.," he said, "And now, I'm going to leave both of you flat and finish that blasted drawing."

"You've been working nearly all night," I told him with anxious reproach.

"But I'll sleep the clock around tonight," he promised. "And, don't worry. I really am feeling very fit."

"For a wonder, you look it," Katharine said. "Don't worry about him, Madge. He's tough, and you can coddle him when he gets through. Mary is vitrually off our hands now."

"Not off mine," I reminded her. "She's raring to go with her lines, and the play is only half written."

"Well, you can't write the rest of it tonight," Katharine pointed out comfortably. "So you might as well devote yourself to alleviating your husband's combat fatigue."

Such a Comfort

"You are always such a comfort, Katrina," I told her affectionately when Dicky had departed.

"Thank you," she said smiling. "And now, to our muttons! How long before Phil Veritzen is due?"

"Less than an hour, now. But, my dear, I'm going to release you from your promise to take that interview with him off your hands. There are reasons why I have to see him myself."

"I'd be lying in my teeth if I told you I was grieved at your decision," she said. "But remember I haven't the personal tie-up with him that you have. If he gets sore at me, he can loathe me for the rest of his life, but he can't hurt me, or anything of mine. But you're writing a play for him, and Mary, his star, is your husband's niece, even if she is his daughter-in-law. He could do things to both of you."

"I know all that," I told her. "But I'd only be putting off the evil day. I'd have to see him and explain certain things eventually, so—"

"Why not now?" she finished for me. "Yes, I can see your point of view. But I also can weep for you, and deeply sympathize. If you need any help in pounding thumb tacks into his skull, just give me a ring."

"Thank you, nice Walrus." I said smiling. Then, as a sudden thought struck me, I put a question to her.

"Will you need me for the next hour with Mary?"

"Not for the next day or week," she answered, "except that you must arrange with her the time of her study periods, which really cannot be determined until after we see how she reacts to study today. And of course Dr. Twitchell, when he comes tonight, will have the last word."

"Then I'm pondering the advisability of asking Phil to come down here right away. I'd like to get through with this particular job."

"I think that's a splendid idea," she approved. "No use postponing the ordeal. Remember, I'll be right behind that door, ready to bind up your wounds or to knock him out cold with a milk bottle, whichever aid you may require."

May Need Both

"I may call on you for both," I told her smiling, and then she went back to Mary and I went to the telephone, and called Philip Veritzen's apartment.

He answered the telephone himself, and I guessed that, although he never would have admitted it even to himself, he had been waiting anxiously for his summons.

"I'm wondering, Phil," I said, when we had exchanged the formal salutations which always are a part of any conversation with the famous impresario, "if by any possibility you could advance the time of that conference of ours a few minutes?"

Sentenced to Chair In Police Killing

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Aug. 7—Charles Ames, 64, ex-convict, was sentenced to the electric chair in the Ohio penitentiary yesterday by Common Pleas Judge Calvin Crawford.

The sentence followed a jury verdict Monday night in Ames' trial for complicity in the pistol slaying of Dayton Police Officer Herman Drexler, several weeks ago when the patrolman was investigating an attempted burglary at the Cooper Hardware store here.

Drexler died of a bullet wound fired into him by Julius Emerick, 34, now in the penitentiary for life, following a jury verdict at a trial preceeding that of Ames. Different juries heard the cases.

Attorneys for Ames indicated an appeal will be made for a new trial.
